

Stakeholder Analysis

Internal partnerships are essential given the cross-functional nature of the Working Families Success approach.

- Brainstorm a list of people who are important to the success of your scaling effort. The list can include specific individuals or departments or categories of people.
- Determine which category each falls into:
 - + People whose planning participation is necessary for success
 - + People whose support or approval is necessary for success
 - + People whose planning participation would be helpful
 - + People whose support or approval would be helpful
- Prioritize the list by who is most critical to success
- Decide who must be involved in the entire process and who can be involved in smaller pieces of it
